Thank you all for the embarrassment of riches, to the more than 200 composers who sent us their wonderful work for our first ever Call for Scores! We have been amazed and impressed with the overall level of quality of all your talented submissions. It has been nearly impossible to narrow down the field only to those compositions we know we can perform this upcoming season. Notices will be going out this week to the composers of the works we will be able to include this season, with a few possibly having to be put into the next season. We hope we will be able to perform even more of the trove in future seasons—and a trove, it is, indeed.

In deep appreciation of your artistry, David, Nanette and Dale
