Don't miss our season closer on June 12 at Old First Concerts!

Dreams of Distant Lands

Works by or about creative artists who were oppressed or longed for their native lands, featuring Shostakovich's "From Jewish Folk Poetry" in Yiddish, plus music by Dallapiccola, Garner, and Chen and with a special guest appearance by Dalit Warshaw, playing her own music "Winter Dream" (in memoriam Charlotte Solomon), commemorating this talented German Expressionist artist and writer (1917-1943).

Mothers & Daughters

Ensemble for These Times
Nanette McGuinness, Soprano
Laura Reynolds, English Horn
Ilana Blumberg, Violin
Anne Lerner, Cello
Dale Tsang, Piano

Noe Valley Ministry
Sunday, March 8, 2020 | 7:00 p.m.

E4TT.org
Welcome and thank you for joining us on International Women’s Day for our 2020 commissions concert, a musical exploration of relationships between mothers and daughters.

When we first dreamed of this program, Gini Savage’s Gripe Water was our starting point. We soon added three of Rita Dove’s Persephone/Demeter poems to the mix, as these figures from Greek mythology represent two-thirds of this primary archetypal maternal-filial triangle, with Hades as the third “leg.” We were thrilled to have Elinor Armer join the project very early on, as well, and greatly enjoyed searching for just the right texts with her for Matrix. Indeed, it felt fitting that Matrix should, in the end, include a poem by unparalleled author Ursula Le Guin, Armer’s long-time collaborator, whose passing in 2018 readers and creative artists worldwide mourned. Sadly, Savage also passed away in 2018 before we completed the project and we are honored to include two of her Gripe Water poems in The Light Within the Dark.

Today’s concert is our most diverse program to date, and deliberately so, with works by LGBTQ, African-American, Chinese-American, Latinx, and women composers and poets from three different generations, plus a preview from our next release, “Once/Memory/Night: Paul Celan.” We’ve let fathers and sons into this concert’s “family tent,” as it were, but the focus remains on mothers and daughters.

We’re excited to have guest artists Ilana Blumberg, violin, and Laura Reynolds, English horn, join us again for this concert, as well as composers Elinor Armer, David Garner, and Brennan Stokes.

Thank you for joining us today!

- Nanette, Dale, Anne, and David

Thank you to our 2019 and 2020 individual donors and foundations for supporting our twelfth season of relevant, timely, rare, contemporary music.

Time Lord ($1,000+)
Anonymous
Mary L. Bianco
Alice M. Ditson Fund of Columbia University
Robin Feldman
InterMusic SF’s MGP Grant Program
Ross McKee Foundation
Dennis Schuman Charitable Foundation
Zellerbach Family Foundation
Community Arts Program

Timekeeper ($50–99)
Carl Eggers
Allen Greene
Juliana Hall
Robert Karwin, in memory of Yala Korwin
Lawrence Kramer and Nancy Leonard
Daniel Lewis
Nicole Paiement and Brian Staufenbiel
Kabir Sehgal
Richard Sobel
Cherrill Spencer
Corinne Springarn
Poppy Tanner
Kathleen Krull Urban
Wayne Wong

Donor
Steven Lerner-Wright
Jeanne Miller
Greg Steinke
Susan Swerdlow

Contemporary ($100–249)
Robert Berkowitz, in memory of Lajos Delej
John Bilotta
Lance Brick
Donna Cooper
Jacqueline Divenyi
Margret Elson
Dennis Estis
Joyce Goodman
James and Carole McGuinness
Bruce Nalezny
Nancy Quinn
Cynthia Whitehead
Erling Wold

Time Traveler ($250–499)
Anonymous

Donor
Steven Lerner-Wright
Jeanne Miller
Greg Steinke
Susan Swerdlow

E4TT thrives through your generosity!
Find out how to become one of our valued supporters with a tax-deductible donation (one-time or recurring), subscribe to our newsletter, volunteer your skills or services, or donate in-kind at www.E4TT.org/contact.html, or email us directly at info@E4TT.org.

E4TT is honored to be fiscally sponsored by InterMusic SF, a non-profit organization dedicated to small-ensemble music in the San Francisco Bay Area.

Mothers & Daughters is made possible with funds from the Musical Grant Program, which is administered by InterMusic SF and supported by the Clarence E. Heller Charitable Foundation, the William and Flora Hewlett Foundation, and San Francisco Grants for the Arts and also by a grant from the Zellerbach Family Foundation.
About Ensemble for These Times

Awarded second place for Chamber Music Performance in 2018/19 by The American Prize and Finalists for the Ernest Bacon Memorial Award for the Performance of American Music, E4TT consists of award-winning soprano and co-director Nanette McGuinness, Van Cliburn competitor pianist Dale Tsang, cellist Anne Lerner-Wright, and co-director and 2015 American Prize in Composition winner David Garner. The group focuses on 20th and 21st century music that is relevant, engaging, original and compelling—music that resonates with today and speaks to tomorrow, that harnesses the power of artistic beauty, intelligence, wit, lyricism, and irony to create a deep understanding of our times and the human condition.

E4TT toured to Madrid, Spain in 2017, performed at the 2016 Krakow Culture Festival (where the group has been invited to return in 2021), was sponsored by the U.S. Embassy in Budapest in 2014 for a four-city tour in Hungary, and made its international debut in Berlin in 2012. E4TT has performed locally at the German Consulate General, SF Conservatory of Music, Old First Concerts, JCC Peninsula, Trinity Chamber Concerts, and Noontime Concerts, among other venues, and has commissioned two dozen works. E4TT’s debut CD, Surviving: Women’s Words (Centaur, 2016) won a Silver Medal in the 2016 Global Music Awards; two of the songs on the CD have also been nominated as finalists in the 2017 Global Peace Song Awards. Lesley Mitchell-Clarke in The Whole Note wrote “Now more than ever […] the potent and timeless messages of survival, love, tolerance and forgiveness contained on this brilliant presentation need to resonate throughout the world.”

“The Hungarians: From Rózsa to Justus” (Centaur, 2018) won a Gold Medal in the Global Music Awards. The recording features a rarely heard cello duo by Hollywood movie maven (and Hungarian émigré) Miklós Rózsa (Spellbound, Ben-Hur), along with works by three others of his compatriots who perished in the Holocaust, including the premiere recording of a work by the young Lajos Delej, and an end-of-the-era waltz song with text and music by György Justus. E4TT’s next recording, Once/Memory/Night: Paul Celan will be released in spring 2020.

Program

Brennan Stokes (b. 1990)
Mother Love (2019, Rita Dove, b. 1952) 10'
S/V/P
Persephone, Falling
Demeter Mourning
Demeter’s Prayer to Hades

William Grant Still (b. 1895-1978)
Mother and Child (1943, arr. Timothy Holley) C/P 6'
David Garner (b. 1954)
The Light Within the Dark (2019) 12'
S/EH/V/C/P
The Light Within the Dark (Gini Savage, 1944-2018)
Cardigan (Savage)
Candid View (Rhina P. Espaillat, b. 1932)

Intermission

Garner
Espenbaum 2017 (from Die eichne Tür, Paul Celan, 1920-1970) $/EH/V/C/P 5'
Anna Clyne (b. 1953)
Rest These Hands (from The Violin, 2014) 9'
(Colleen Clyne) SV/P
Chen Yi (b. 1953)
Ji-Dong-Nuo (2007) P 3'
Elinor Armer (b. 1939)
Matrix (2019) $/P 6'
Child Your Eyes (Rella Lossy, 1944-96)
Song for a Daughter (Ursula Le Guin, 1929-2018)

S - Soprano
EH - English horn
V - Violin
C - Cello
P - Piano
SV - Spoken Voice

Mother Love (by Rita Dove)

Persephone, Falling

One narcissus among the ordinary beautiful flowers, one unlike all the others!
She pulled, stooped to pull harder—when, sprung out of the earth on his glittering terrible carriage, he claimed his due.
It is finished. No one heard her. No one! She had strayed from the herd.

(Remember: go straight to school. This is important, stop fooling around! Don’t answer to strangers. Stick with your playmates. Keep your eyes down.)

This is how easily the pit opens. This is how one foot sinks into the ground.

Demeter Mourning

Nothing can console me. You may bring silk to make the skin sigh, dispense yellow roses in the manner of ripened dignitaries. You can tell me repeatedly I am unbearable (and I know this): still, nothing turns the gold to corn, nothing is sweet to the tooth crushing in.

I’ll not ask for the impossible; one learns to walk by walking. In time I’ll forget this empty brimming. I may laugh again at a bird, perhaps, chucking the nest— but it will not be happiness, for I have known that.

Demeter’s Prayer to Hades

This alone is what I wish for you: knowledge. To understand each desire has an edge, to know we are responsible for the lives we change. No faith comes without cost, no one believes without dying.
Now for the first time I see clearly the trail you planted, what ground opened to waste, though you dreamed a wealth of flowers.

There are no curses - only mirrors held up to the souls of gods and mortals. And so I give up this fate, too. Believe in yourself, go ahead - see where it gets you.

The Light Within the Dark

Of such deep Witnessing we have heard about the book but we don’t buy it aboriginal to ourselves we sit in pain denying freedom or we buy it so it sits on our shelves years gathering moss eating profound darkness for the sudden grace of the plum blossoms

Cardigan (Savage)

Having donned my mother’s sorrow I put on her heavy—balled dun lambswool cardigan, the one I could not wash…

Uncertain I stand, walk stiffly… a new fawn savoring it all: death, grief, childhood nostalgia, woes, regret still longing for tomorrows…, when we might have undone miscalculations, salved pains, said what we really meant.

To wear her latest mantle, my stomach aches… Strange our lives can inspire others, though not ourselves. We smother in their folds, unable to breathe free. Mother. Victim. It hurts horribly… These temporary shapes definitely not our homes.

Imprisoned in mantles of untimely flesh, our sharpened bones prod and prick us…

LAURA REYNOLDS is an active chamber and orchestral performer throughout Northern California. Principal oboist with the Santa Rosa Symphony, the California Symphony, and English horn with Marin Symphony, Ms. Reynolds is additionally a member of the wind Trois Bois and was a founding member of Citywinds, a San Francisco woodwind quintet dedicated to contemporary repertoire. She is a past participant in the Carmel Bach Festival and Sun Valley Music Festival and is currently a member of the applied faculty of Sonoma State University and the Pre-College and Continuing Education Divisions at the SF Conservatory of Music.

Pianist DALE TSANG earned her BM in piano performance from the University of Southern California, studying with John Perry; her MM from the University of Michigan, studying with Dickran Atamian; and her DMA from Rice University, studying with John Perry. Dale is a faculty member at Laney College, teaches an inspiring assortment of adult students, and serves as a competition adjudicator for many local and statewide piano competitions. A winner of numerous competitions, and an active solo and chamber musician, she frequently performs locally and in Europe and Asia.

E4TT Staff

David Garner, Co-Director

Nanette McGuinness, Co-Director

Stephanie Neumann, Marketing & Development

Brennan Stokes, Publicity & Design

Chelsea Holmes, Intern

E4TT Advisory Council

Kathy Barr

Jeffrey Hoover

Alden Jenks

Kurt Rohde

Frederica von Stade

Cynthia Whitehead
1930, the first African-American to conduct a major symphony orchestra in the U.S. (L.A. Phil., 1936), and the first opera by an African-American composer to be performed by a major opera company (Troubled Island, New York City. Opera, 1949) and the first opera by an African-American to be nationally televised.

About the Performers

Violinist ILANA BLUMBERG has appeared across the United States and internationally, in solo appearances with the San Francisco Symphony, the Albany Symphony (NY), Symphony Napa Valley, and the Merced Symphony, as well as performances at the prestigious Santa Fe Chamber Music Festival, the Marlboro Music Festival, the La Jolla Summerfest as a ‘Rising Star’, the Aspen Music Festival, and many others. She appears frequently throughout the Bay Area with the Marin, Silicon Valley, West Edge Opera, Berkeley, and California Symphonies, as well as with the Golden Gate String Quartet, eco ensemble, and Left Coast Chamber Ensemble.

Cellist ANNE LERNER completed her B.A. in Music at Northwestern University as a Cello Performance major after three years as a Spanish Literature major at Bryn Mawr College, earning a M.M. in cello performance at the San Francisco Conservatory, where she earned a Master of Music in Cello Performance. She has performed with numerous Bay Area orchestras and is a sought-after chamber musician and performer of contemporary music. A dedicated educator, Anne conducts two youth orchestras in the Marin Symphony Youth Program, is on the faculties of Dominican University and San Rafael High School and maintains a large private studio.

Soprano and E4TT co-founder and co-director NANETTE MCGUINNESS has performed in 12 languages on 2 continents in over 25 roles, with the Silesian State Opera (Czech Republic), Opera San Jose (Opera in the Schools) and West Bay Opera Opera, among many others. Solo concert engagements include Mahler’s Fourth Symphony, Shéhérazade (Ravel), Nuits d’été (Berlioz), Stabat Mater (Rossini), Requiem (Fauré), Gloria (Vivaldi), Lord Nelson Mass (Haydn), Vesperae Solennes (Mozart), and Handel’s Messiah and Solomon. Her CD of music by 19th and 20th century women composers, Fabulous Femmes (Cantaur CRC 2461) was called “perfect for the song recital lover” by Chamber Music Magazine and features several premiere recordings.

Candid View by Rhina P. Espaillat

Clearly, this is no Helen: not one skiff would have been launched by the pinched smile, the stiff hand shading one eye from summer sun, and one eye tearing; it is ‘fifty-one, I guess, when this was taken. And I knew — my mother warned me—that it would not do to count on beauty, or what looks procured. Luckily love came early, and endured.

The warning, I learned later—many years after the girl I was had dried those tears—that had been pro forma, issued to prevent the sin of vanity. The same intent had led my mother’s mother to the lies that kept her, also, dim in her own eyes, told not from malice, but in virtue’s name.

Espenbaum, dein Laub blickt weiss ins Dunkel. Meiner Mutter Haar ward nimmer weiss.

Löwenzahn, so grün ist die Ukraine. Meine blonde Mutter kam nicht heim.

Regenwolke, säumst du an den Brunnen? Meine leise Mutter weint für alle.

Runder Stern, du schlingst die goldne Schleife. Meiner Mutter Herz ward wund von Blei.

Eichne Tür, wer hob dich aus den Angeln? Meine sanfte Mutter kann nicht kommen.

The series closed with me: no daughters came to be kept modest at a price so steep. Lucky, since what we’re taught is what we keep, if we’re taught early. I have handsome boys; telling them so is one among my joys.

Another discovering—though late—how not to credit words that devastate, if they are spoken by misguided love that once endured what it is guilty of. And yes, one more: the pleasure, long deferred, of finding my young face, of which I heard such painful things, deserving of no less than any face we would not curse or bless. I wonder—having cursed it long ago—what else would have been comforting to know.

Aspen tree, your leaves peer white into the dark. My mother’s hair was never white.

Dandelion, Ukraine is so green. My blond mother never came home.

Rain cloud, do you linger over the well? My silent mother cries for all.

Round stars, you tie a golden ribbon. My mother’s heart was scarred by lead.

Oaken door, who lifted you from your hinges? My gentle mother cannot come back.

Translation by McGuinness and Garner

Rest These Hands

(from The Violin, 2014) by Colleen Clyne

I rest these hands
World weary
Misunderstood

I rest these hands
Toiled weary
Long before they should.

These hands
Palmed to palmed
With wonder
Surrendered

Translation by McGuinness and Garner

The series closed with me: no daughters came to be kept modest at a price so steep. Lucky, since what we’re taught is what we keep, if we’re taught early. I have handsome boys; telling them so is one among my joys.

Another discovering—though late—how not to credit words that devastate, if they are spoken by misguided love that once endured what it is guilty of. And yes, one more: the pleasure, long deferred, of finding my young face, of which I heard such painful things, deserving of no less than any face we would not curse or bless. I wonder—having cursed it long ago—what else would have been comforting to know.

Matrix

Child, Your Eyes by Rella Lossy

Child, your eyes astonish me
More now than on your first born night.

Like a tooth rooted in urgency
You bolt into my sight;
Your head bangs like a door,
Knocks at my breast,
Then you’re back to the dig, uncovering shores
Of secret rivers, boundaries that will not rest.

Who told you to bury your feet in the sand?

Candid View (by Rhina P. Espaillat)

Clearly, this is no Helen: not one skiff would have been launched by the pinched smile, the stiff hand shading one eye from summer sun, and one eye tearing; it is ‘fifty-one, I guess, when this was taken. And I knew — my mother warned me—that it would not do to count on beauty, or what looks procured. Luckily love came early, and endured.

The warning, I learned later—many years after the girl I was had dried those tears—had been pro forma, issued to prevent the sin of vanity. The same intent had led my mother’s mother to the lies that kept her, also, dim in her own eyes, told not from malice, but in virtue’s name.

Espenbaum, dein Laub blickt weiss ins Dunkel. Meiner Mutter Haar ward nimmer weiss.

Löwenzahn, so grün ist die Ukraine. Meine blonde Mutter kam nicht heim.

Regenwolke, säumst du an den Brunnen? Meine leise Mutter weint für alle.

Runder Stern, du schlingst die goldne Schleife. Meiner Mutter Herz ward wund von Blei.

Eichne Tür, wer hob dich aus den Angeln? Meine sanfte Mutter kann nicht kommen.

The series closed with me: no daughters came to be kept modest at a price so steep. Lucky, since what we’re taught is what we keep, if we’re taught early. I have handsome boys; telling them so is one among my joys.

Another discovering—though late—how not to credit words that devastate, if they are spoken by misguided love that once endured what it is guilty of. And yes, one more: the pleasure, long deferred, of finding my young face, of which I heard such painful things, deserving of no less than any face we would not curse or bless. I wonder—having cursed it long ago—what else would have been comforting to know.

Aspen tree, your leaves peer white into the dark. My mother’s hair was never white.

Dandelion, Ukraine is so green. My blond mother never came home.

Rain cloud, do you linger over the well? My silent mother cries for all.

Round stars, you tie a golden ribbon. My mother’s heart was scarred by lead.

Oaken door, who lifted you from your hinges? My gentle mother cannot come back.

Translation by McGuinness and Garner

Rest These Hands

(from The Violin, 2014) by Colleen Clyne

I rest these hands
World weary
Misunderstood

I rest these hands
Toiled weary
Long before they should.

These hands
Palmed to palmed
With wonder
Surrendered

Translation by McGuinness and Garner

The series closed with me: no daughters came to be kept modest at a price so steep. Lucky, since what we’re taught is what we keep, if we’re taught early. I have handsome boys; telling them so is one among my joys.

Another discovering—though late—how not to credit words that devastate, if they are spoken by misguided love that once endured what it is guilty of. And yes, one more: the pleasure, long deferred, of finding my young face, of which I heard such painful things, deserving of no less than any face we would not curse or bless. I wonder—having cursed it long ago—what else would have been comforting to know.
About the Composers

Elinor Armer

Born in Oakland and raised in Davis, composer Elinor Armer has spent her life on the West Coast, where she has taught piano, theory, composition, and music history at every level, in schools and universities, at her home in Berkeley as well as in master classes in the U.S. and abroad. For the last fifty years she has been affiliated with the San Francisco Conservatory of Music, where in 1985 she established the composition department, and where she continues to teach composition. Since 2014, the Conservatory has awarded the Elinor Armer Scholarship in Composition to qualifying women applicants. Armer’s music is widely performed worldwide and published by Subito Music Corporation. Among her best-known works is “Uses of Music in Uttermost Parts” a fantasy series created over a ten-year period with writer Ursula K. Le Guin.

Chen Yi

A prolific composer who transcends cultural and musical boundaries, Chen Yi (from Guangzhou, China) is a Distinguished Professor at the Conservatory in the University of Missouri-Kansas City, and a recipient of Ives Living Award from the American Academy of Arts & Letters. Her music is published by Theodore Presser, performed and recorded worldwide. Degrees are from Beijing Central Conservatory of Music and Columbia University in NYC. Composition teachers were Wu Zu-qiang, Chou Wen-chung and Mario Davidovsky. She is a member of the American Academy of Arts & Sciences, and the American Academy of Arts & Letters, also a Distinguished Visiting Professor in China. presser.com/chen-yi

Anna Clyne

London-born Anna Clyne is a Grammy-nominated composer of acoustic and electro-acoustic music. Described as a “composer of uncommon gifts and unusual methods” in a New York Times profile and as “dazzlingly inventive” by Time Out New York, Clyne’s work often includes collaborations with cutting-edge choreographers, visual artists, filmmakers, and musicians. Clyne served as composer-in-residence for the Chicago Symphony Orchestra, Baltimore Symphony Orchestra, L’Orchestre national d’Île-de-France, and Berkeley Symphony and currently serves as The Scottish Chamber Orchestra’s Associate Composer. Her music is published exclusively by Boosey & Hawkes. boosey.com/clyne

David Garner

E4TT composer and founding member David Garner won The American Prize in 2015 for his String Quartet No. 2. Garner’s music has been reviewed as “alluring” and “a heady and touching revelation,” and his works have been performed nationally and internationally by artists such as Suzanne Mentzner, Catherine Cook, Crystal Philippi, David Krakauer, and Matt Haimowitz. Garner’s opera, “Mary Pleasant at Land’s End,” is in the final stages of pre-production. A faculty member in composition, chamber music, music theory and literature at the SF Conservatory of Music, Garner is a member of BMI, American Composers Forum, and the American Music Center. davidgarner.us

Brennan Stokes

Born and raised in Los Angeles, Brennan Stokes is a composer, pianist, tenor, and teacher in San Francisco. He began piano lessons at age 6 and was active in playing in school ensembles and singing in and accompanying school and church choirs throughout his education. In 2013, he earned a Bachelor’s of Music in Piano Performance from Pacific Union College. In 2019, he earned his Master’s Degree in Music Composition at the San Francisco Conservatory of Music in the studio of David Garner. He has had masterclasses in piano with Leon Bates and Sonstraud Speidel and in composition with Jack Perla and David Conte.

William Grant Still

Born and raised in Los Angeles, William Grant Still, the “Dean of African-American Composers,” was a pupil of George Chadwick and Edgar Varèse and a major figure in the Harlem Renaissance. His career is remembered by many “firsts”: the first African-American composer to have a symphony performed by a professional orchestra in the U.S. (Afro-American Symphony,
Don't miss our season closer on June 12 at Old First Concerts!

Dreams of Distant Lands

Works by or about creative artists who were oppressed or longed for their native lands, featuring Shostakovich's "From Jewish Folk Poetry" in Yiddish, plus music by Dallapiccola, Garner, and Chen and with a special guest appearance by Dalit Warshaw, playing her own music "Winter Dream" (in memoriam Charlotte Solomon), commemorating this talented German Expressionist artist and writer (1917-1943).